

"AD. FLIER" AFTER RECORDS.

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—The first "Ad-vertising Flier" in the world is to start from St. Louis for Philadelphia on June 21 over the Pennsylvania Railroad and its trip across the country is to be a record-breaking one. The flier will be made up of ten advertising columns, and will carry the advertising of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Associated Advertising Club of the World, and the first great convention of this month. The St. Louis advertising men will carry a band with them on the trip, and concerts will be given in every town in which the train stops while advertising specialties carried on the flier are being distributed.

It is necessary for us of to-day to take exceptional care of our teeth because of the kind of food we eat.

Your dentist, who has been given the formula, will tell you that Albodon contains the highest percentage of actual cleansing and polishing properties of any dentifrice on the market, so it is certain to clean best. It is also sufficiently yet safely antiseptic. It has no trace of grit. It does not melt or harden. It contains no coloring matter.

It is especially ideal for children. It is just such a dentifrice as you should have used long ago in your home.

Try it to-day. Albodon can be had at 25 cents a liberal tube wherever toilet articles are sold and a free sample can be had by sending your name and address to The Albodon Co., Dept. B, 154 West 18th Street, N. Y. A postal will do.

THOMPSON PROBES RAILROAD'S SALE OF LANDS TO CITY

Westchester Line Asked $613,000 for What Is Worth, Experts Say, $76,000.

The Thompson Committee put on record to-day the loose and extravagant methods followed by the City of New York in acquiring land in the Bronx for the purpose of extending the new rapid transit line to White Plains. Land worth $97,000 or less was sold at the price of $104,000 by the New York, Westchester and Boston Railroad Company. That company is now owned by the New York and New Haven Railroad Company. A tract of 91-2 acres near the south end of Bronx Park was originally bought by the New York, Westchester and Boston Company to build its lines upon. The route was changed, so that the land was worth very little to them until the City of New York sought to buy it for one of the new transit lines under the dual contract.

On the land is an embankment 21 feet high and 2,100 feet long made of earth dug out by the railroad company in driving a tunnel for its line through Morris Hill. For this embankment the company proposes to charge the city $104,000 as an "improvement," though the Thompson committee declare the company would have had to pay $1 a yard, or $150,000, for the privilege of dumping the earth anywhere else in the neighborhood. The city is putting the award of $104,000 for the land made by complacent condemnation commissioners, and the case is pending in the Supreme Court before Justice Muller.

Henry W. Mayo, an Assistant Corporation Counsel, was assigned in December, 1913, to bring condemnation proceedings. Charles L. Hoffmann, Francis P. Kenny and Abram Schering were appointed commissioners to take testimony. It has been charged that the Public Service Commission wasted $600,000 in this project. Mr. Mayo was called.

Q. Did you know of any connection between Mr. Kenny and John J. Mackin? A. No.

Mackin is the Supreme Court attendant to whom Justice Edward R. McCall transferred 375 shares of Kings County Electric Light and Power Company just before he was appointed a Public Service Commissioner. This transfer was much in evidence just before Gov. Whitman removed Mr. McCall from his office as Public Service Commissioner.

Mr. Mayo told of the queer juggling that was done with about 31-3 acres of land in Walton Avenue the Bronx, known as Parcel 29, which was wanted for the new rapid transit lines.

"Through the centre of Parcel 29," said Mr. Mayo, "ran the Old Road to West Farms, which was laid out by the city as Avon Street. When I claimed that street as city property in condemnation proceedings the New York, Westchester and Boston Railroad Company put in evidence new maps showing that the street was abandoned, also the resolution of the Board of Estimate in 1912 closing the street."

Q. (By Senator Thompson) As I understand it, this right of way is abandoned by the New York, Westchester and Boston Railroad Company and is of no value to them? A. They say it will be useful for storing cars, but I say it is not.

Q. What did the land originally cost the Railroad Company? A. I did not go into that. Our experts were convinced it was worth only $76,000.

Senator John J. Dominick of Westchester testified that he had investigated the matter because taxpayers' associations in the Bronx believed the award the railroad company sought for the land was exorbitant. "We thought it was not available for railroad purposes," he said. "We would like to know why there is such a big difference between the assessed value of land and the same land when it is wanted by the city. There is need of legislation on this subject."

Senator Dominick complained that the New York, Westchester and Boston Railroad Company had shut off several streets leading into Bronx Park, though its President had promised that the streets would be kept open.

Peter J. Brady, Secretary of the Allied Printing Trades Council, read a letter complaining of police wire tapping. He was accompanied by Hugh Frayne, General Organizer of the American Federation of Labor; James P. Holland, President of the New York State Federation of Labor; John Sullivan, International Officer of the United Brewery Workers; E. T. James, Brotherhood of Painters; Ernest Bohm, Secretary of the Central Federated Union, and Henry Waxman of the United Garment Workers.

Mr. Brady's letter renewed the charges made a week ago that the police have tapped wires of labor unions during strikes and calling upon the Mayor to stop the wrongful use of police authority. He said: "We demand an investigation of the following detective agencies: Ascher Detective Agency, Bergoff Brothers, Herzinsky Detective Agency, Dougherty Detective Agency, Fidelity Secret Service Company, Frank Hannon Company, Danyon Detective Agency, Schmitz Detective Agency, United Secret Service Agency, Wadell and Machon, Drummond Detective Agency, the Pinkerton and Will J. Burns Agency and a large list of others which we believe are operating under some sort of a so-called State license, which permits them to continue every kind of criminal practice from burglary to murder."

POLICE ARREST CLOAK STRIKERS ON FIFTH AVENUE

Five Hundred of Them Block Sidewalk Until a Patrol Wagon Full of Bluecoats Arrives.

Fifteen thousand of the strikers in the cloak, suit and skirt industry, supported by 500 women, are picketing to-day the strike zone, extending from Eighteenth Street and Fifth Avenue to Thirty-fourth Street, east and west, in the biggest demonstration since the manufacturers closed their shops seven weeks ago. The strikers were out as early as 3 o'clock this morning, and a few hours later 500 of them clashed with the police, and 14 of their number were carted to the Tenderloin police station, charged with loitering and obstructing a public thoroughfare.

There was no real disorder reported from any part of the strike zone, because following the attack last Friday on men who wanted to work and the arrest of the attackers Benjamin Schlesinger, President of the union, ordered the strikers to cut out the "rough tactics." The fourteen arrested for loitering this morning were released later in the day. The arrests were made at No. 105 Madison Avenue, a factory building, where, at 6.30 o'clock, Capt. W. A. Bailey of the Tenderloin Station, found 500 pickets blocking the sidewalk and obstructing the entrance to the building.

He first tried persuasion. "Tell your men to break up and move on. I'll allow thirty to do picket duty, but they must keep moving," said Capt. Bailey.

The delegates talked to the pickets in Yiddish, but there was no sign of moving or breaking up. Thousands of people going to work had to walk in the street. Bailey waited a quarter of an hour and tried persuasion again. This failed, and he backed up a police wagon and carted off fourteen. He hinted to the remaining pickets that the wagon would make a second trip, but it didn't. After the arrests the pickets split up.

Demonstrations were made from 7 to 8 o'clock in front of the biggest factories by groups of 100 and 200. The women, some of them mothers of families, actually stood in the hallways of factories and carefully watched every girl who entered. In most of the factories the association made some gains. It was said that at least 500 or more had gone back. There are ninety-one factories working full time.

At the office of E. J. Wile, President of the association, the women made the biggest demonstration of the day at 7.30 o'clock until the police appeared and kept them moving. Mrs. Albert Schmitz, leader of a band of pickets, held up five girls entering the building. They were newcomers reporting for work, it was said. "Don't go in," said Mrs. Schmitz. "It's a seal shop."

"Take your hands off me," said one of the girls. "I want to work." "The union will keep you," urged Mrs. Schmitz. "The union couldn't keep anybody," was the prompt retort. Just as a crowd of women pickets were about to surround the girls the cops came and shoved them off.

Acting on instructions from Headquarters, the police took a firmer hold on the situation to-day than heretofore. William Klein, counsel for the association, complained about the methods of the pickets, and the police were ordered to "keep everybody moving." Under this ruling the manufacturers hope to be able to get more workers back. But the situation is still acute. Benjamin Schlesinger, for the union, announced today that he would accept a Board of Arbitration composed of two men appointed by the union, two by the association and the four to select a fifth. He says that the union is not asking for a closed shop or denying the manufacturers the right of discharge.

"We are willing to arbitrate," he said. "But if we must, we will keep it this for the next two months, just as long as our funds last."

The Citizens Committee, headed by Jacob Schiff, began today to raise a $50,000 fund for the strikers. Mr. Schiff has made a large contribution, and it is expected that there will be $10,000 raised to-day.

Ends His Life by Gas.

A hybrid, only two years old, a baker of No. 292 Third Avenue, was found dead in bed to-day with a gas tube in his mouth.

ACTON DAVIES DEAD.

Well Known Dramatic Critic Succumbs to Rheumatism.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 12.—Acton Davies, one of the best known of New York dramatic critics, died in Lakeview Hospital early this morning. Mr. Davies had been under treatment for a week for a rheumatic attack of the heart. The body will be sent to Athol, Mass., where Mr. Davies made his summer home for many years.

A native of St. Johns, Quebec, Mr. Davies came to New York in 1887, and, as an employee of the New York Gas Company, began contributing to newspapers. In 1893 he joined the staff of the Evening Sun as dramatic critic, succeeding Charles B. Dillingham. He continued with the Sun until 1914, when, for a time, he was critic on the Tribune. He left newspaper work to engage in writing motion picture plays.

Mr. Davies's opinions had weight and his word often made or marred a play.

Heavy Wins Suspension of Sentence.

While on his way to the City Court in Yonkers to-day Judge Joseph H. Bell saw a man seize the handle of a runaway horse that was tearing along West-burton Avenue and bring the animal to a stop after he had been dragged for nearly a block. Judge Bell recommended the man as Frank O'Neil, of No. 129 Vineyard Avenue, who was to have been tried to-day for fighting in the street, long enough to suspend sentence on him.
